

TARIFF THE CAUSE, SAYS WADSWORTH

Senator-Elect Declares Elections Mean People Prefer Republican Control.

THIRD GREAT PARTY NOT WANTED, HE ASSERTS

Believes Democrats in House, Formerly Overlaid by Great Majority, Will Assert Themselves.

JAMES W. WADSWORTH, JR.

James W. Wadsworth, Jr., senator-elect from New York to succeed Elihu Root, who is retiring, believed that there will be no legislation of great national importance for two years after next March. To use his own words:

"The country at last is to enjoy a rest from further legislative experimentation and disturbance."

Seated in the sunny library, overlooking Lafayette Square and the White House, of the residence of the late James Hay, Secretary of State, Mr. Wadsworth today discussed with a reporter for The Star the political campaign which has just closed. Mrs. Wadsworth was Miss Alice Hay, and she and Mr. Wadsworth are at present occupying her father's home at 16th and H streets northwest.

Mr. Wadsworth said that now that the campaign has closed he had looked forward to a rest, and that he had believed the public would not be interested in his views. This unassuming attitude was met by his interviewer with the information that on the contrary his ideas might be regarded, now that he has become senator-elect from New York, as more important than when he was merely campaigning for election, and he yielded the point.

Says Tariff Did It.

"To my mind," Mr. Wadsworth said, "this election indicates a firm desire on the part of the public to intrust the government of the country to the republican party at the earliest opportunity. Businessmen, workmen and farmers voted the republican ticket. The vote for the republican ticket in rural communities was astounding. Why?"

"Because the new tariff law has been a failure in every respect. American industries have been seriously injured by it and that is proven by the fact that a great many men are out of work. The unemployed went to the polls and voted the republican ticket."

"Aside from its effect on the industries of the country, the income produced by the new tariff law has not been sufficient to support the government. People, generally, understand that, and they have lost all confidence in the ability of the democratic party to manage national affairs sensibly. Personally, I believe the result shows that they have confidence in the ability of the republican party to set things right."

"Another significant thing about this election is that it is plainly apparent that the people want only two great things, and that in our political life there is no room for a third or a fourth great party."

"Assuming that the democrats are in control of both branches of Congress, by small majorities, perhaps, but nevertheless, in accordance with the administration democratic, it is evident that the democratic party will have to bear the responsibility in complete measure of whatever legislation is passed after next March. They will be much more careful than they have been."

Will Back President's War Attitude.

"Of course, I do not allude to international affairs. It is the sense of all parties that the President must be assisted in whatever he finds it necessary to do that may have a bearing on events beyond our national borders. Above all, we will all support the administration in meeting new problems brought up by the European or other wars. The President is entitled to the help of every senator, so long as he conducts our foreign affairs so that we may remain free from entanglement."

"But the increased republican strength in the Congress will give a halt to the democratic pursuance of policies with which the whole country is not in sympathy. In fact, if the democrats are not careful, they will not be able, with their small majorities, to control their own people. There are lots of democrats in Congress who have been

How to Fight Tuberculosis

In a paper read last year before the Texas County Medical Society and published in part in the Louisville "Medical Progress," Dr. J. W. Eckenman, of Louisville, Ky., a physician who has devoted much time to the study of tuberculosis, said: "Since I have seen, consistently three-fourths of all the mineral substances of the human body, the most important of which are calcium, phosphorus and iron, are supplied in the foods or supplemented in mineral preparations, tuberculosis is unchecked. The spread and unchecked spread of tuberculosis, and other preventable diseases is due largely to the deficiency of these three elements in the diet of multitudes throughout the civilized world."

From another authoritative medical source comes justification for the use of Eckenman's Alternative, much of the success attending the widespread use of this remedy is due to the combination of this salt in such a way as to render it easily assimilable. It causes no stomach disturbance, and since it contains neither opiates, narcotics nor habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

Eckenman's Alternative has effected remarkable results in numerous cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, rheumatism and allied chronic affections of the throat and bronchial passages. In many instances, such conditions, apparently, have yielded completely to it.

STRATEGY RATHER THAN NUMERICAL SUPERIORITY

Naval Expert's Reason for German Victory Off the Chilean Coast.

NEW YORK, November 6.—The following review of recent naval action in the European conflict is prepared for the Associated Press by an expert.

The defeat of the British fleet off the Chilean coast, which was the first real sea fight of the present war, seems to have infused new life into the German navy; so much so that a squadron is reported to have left the base, under the guns of Kiel, and ventured as far as the English coast.

The German fleet has also appeared off the Azores Islands in the Baltic sea, where four of her battleships and four cruisers, accompanied by their flotilla of destroyers, were reported yesterday.

British Flagships Superior.
In the raid on the English coast, which was principally a mine-laying dash, the British gunboat Halcyon was put out of action, and the submarine D-5 destroyed by a mine thrown overboard from a German ship shown chasing.

The submarine was blown up and only two men were saved.

Details of the great German victory in the Pacific seem to indicate that it was due more to strategic than numerical superiority. Though the advantage in numbers may have been on the side of the Germans, there was little or no difference between the total displacement and weight of metal on their broadsides.

Mr. Wadsworth gives the impression of being alert, simple, modest and frank. The latter is a noticeable trait in his interview today during his interview did he use the expression—frequent in political interviews—"This is not for publication," and then he merely alluded to his personal attitude toward a subject.

FULL SUFFRAGE IN 11 STATES.

Women Also Have Partial Right of Ballot in Twenty-Two.

CHICAGO, November 6.—Women now have full suffrage in eleven states and in the territory of Alaska, according to returns which apparently give the franchise to women in Nevada and Montana. Late tabulation of the vote gave equal suffrage a lead of 1,317 in Montana and 3,500 in Nevada.

In addition to the eleven states now listed as granting full franchise to women, women have the right to vote for certain officers in twenty-two other states. In Illinois, one of the twenty-two, women may vote for all statutory offices, including presidential electors.

The eleven female suffrage states, with the time of granting the franchise, are: Wyoming, 1890; Colorado, 1893; Utah, 1896; Idaho, 1896; Washington, 1910; California, 1912; Arizona, 1912; Kansas, 1912; Oregon, 1912; Nevada, 1914; and Montana, 1914.

The twenty-two states allowing partial suffrage to women are Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska (defeated full suffrage Tuesday), New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Ohio (defeated full suffrage in 1912 Tuesday), South Dakota, Vermont and Wisconsin.

Late returns bear out early indications that the franchise was denied women in Ohio, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota.

MASTER HOUSE PAINTERS HEAR CONVENTION PLANS

Committees Report on Arrangements for National Assembly Here in February.

At the November meeting of the Master House Painters and Decorators' Association, held Tuesday evening in their rooms in the Corcoran building, reports of committees in charge of the arrangements for the annual convention of the International Association of Master House Painters and Decorators of the United States and Canada indicated that the gathering to be held here in February is to be probably the largest ever held by the organization.

It was stated that every manufacturer of painters' materials in the United States has already arranged for an exhibit at the convention, and that the entire tenth floor of the Raleigh Hotel is to be given up to this exhibit. The United States government is also to make an extensive display of raw materials produced in this country, as well as an illustrative exhibit of its paint testing experiments, designed to show the covering and lasting qualities of various paints and painting materials.

Preparation of a paper on "Overhead Charges" to be read before the convention, was delegated to A. H. McGowan, chairman of the general committee in charge of arrangements for the convention, who was directed to obtain reports from not less than ten contractors in regard to items of cost in the painting and decorating business, such items to include office expenses, rents, drayage, advertising, insurance, etc.

The new workmen's compensation law of Maryland was thoroughly discussed at the meeting, as this measure, which became effective November 1, adds a considerable item of expense to all work done in the state of Maryland, and all District of Columbia contractors, as well as those operating only in Maryland, are seriously affected by the provisions of the new law.
